Address of the Papal Legate Opening the Eucharistic Congress.

Cardinal Vannutelli Has Only Praise For American Catholics.

Declares That Providence Led to the Discovery of This Country.

NOTABLE RELIGIOUS GATHERING

With the arrival of Cardinal Vannutelli, representing Pope Pius X., Cardinal Logue and Cardinal Gibbons there was assembled in Montreal this week the most notable religious gathering ever witnessed on the American continent. Archbishops, Bishops and priests that numbered thousands were there to attend the great Eucharistic Congress, and from all parts of America were also present. Every arrangement was made for a fitting reception and care of the dignitaries and visitors and not a hitch occurred. The churches of the city were thronged from Sunday morning until the close, and the services surpassed anything ever before witnessed in America.

Cardinal Vannutelli, the Legate of the Pope, addressed the Eucharistic Congress Tuesday. After expressing his appreciation of the welcome tendered him, he continued in part as follows:

"How beautiful is the spectacle presented today to the entire universe by the Catholic church in this fortunate land of America. Europe stretches out her hand to America, and America, in a sublime enthusiasm, joins with her to exalt the greatest of the sacraments under the guidance and with the encouragement of the Supreme Pastor. It seemed at first as if the difficulties of a long voyage would deprive America of the honor and satisfaction of entertaining an international Eucharistic Congress. But faith will move mountains, and when planted in the heart, as it is in those of all Canadians, it regards no difficulties; it sees only the need which it has to assist and manifest itself. The Montreal belongs to the honor of receiving within its walls the first international Eucharistic Congress held on the American continent, but there is every reason to hope that, thanks to this first example, other congresses will be held in America, alternating with those in Europe and other parts of the world."

"Toward the end of the fifteenth century a great occurrence, the discovery of America, revealed the aims reserved by Providence for modern times. God said to his church, as He had said to his Divine Son: 'I shall give thee as a heritage all the nations of the earth; I shall give unto thee the countless population of these immense regions, to be added to those already in my bosom. I shall raise up apostles who will spread my words through these new lands.' Here in particular to this beautiful valley of the St. Lawrence shall come champions of the faith and of civilization who will quickly transform this deserted, forest-clad land and will found a colony to establish here the Catholic religion and to effect the conversion of its savage peoples. Canada shall be the cradle of a great Christian world. Barely two centuries and a half shall have elapsed before Catholic North America shall see its flourishing dioceses attached to the ancient hierarchy of the churches of the old world and the universal Shepherd shall show to an astonished universe the old and the new world realizing the universality of the church, predicted by the Saviour to his apostles."

"Where can this universality, prepared by divine will, better manifest itself than in an international congress such as this which I have the satisfaction to salute in the name of the Holy Father—a congress of representatives of all the races and all the nationalities, united as members of a single family, of Bishops from all quarters of the Orient and Occident, of priests of diverse rites, gathered from every country, of the faithful of every colony as on the day of Pentecost? I can not less admire the strong, the beautiful unity of which we are here the witnesses, unity of spirit in the truth, union of hearts in love. On either side of the ocean we chant the same creed. If you greet with such enthusiasm the Legate of the Pope it is because you wish to manifest before the whole world your love and your obedience to him at Rome whom you recognize as do all Catholics as the sole chief, the sole shepherd, the sole father of all souls. Where else can one meet such unity of faith, such unity of leadership, such union of souls in love, in convictions and in conduct? This unity, which has shown itself so magnificently at Brussels, at Lourdes, at London and in so many other great cities in Europe, shines out to still greater advantage in this city of Montreal, in this Cathedral which strives to reproduce the Basilica of the Vatican."

"The secret of this unity, the bond of this union, lies in the sacrament which has brought about this congress—the Eucharist. Grouped around the same altar, united in the oblation of the same sacrifice, seated at the same table, invited to the same banquet, we drink from the same cup; we eat the same bread—the body of Him who in uniting Himself to us unites us all to Him. This mystery is the same in all places and all times, from the catacombs of the first century to our congress of the twentieth."

Rectifying the history of the foundation of Montreal, when the first act of the colonists was to erect an altar and celebrate mass, Cardinal Vannutelli continued: "Was not this a first Eucharistic Congress of Canada and America? It was in any case, under the plans of God, the preparation for the congress of 1910. The missionary who delivered the sermon at that mass foresaw the great congress of today when he said: 'What you see is only a little seed, but I have no doubt that from it shall grow a mighty tree.' We have before our eyes this mighty tree. We await from this congress great victories for the right. May it be the source of a new fruitfulness of the Catholic life of America. May it check the fire which everywhere menaces with subversive ideas the old and the new world."

Cardinal Vannutelli concluded with a reference to the difficulties of the Roman Catholic church in France, expressing the hope that Canada, the daughter nation to France, should obtain divine clemency for the country which gave to her the breath of life and should see her again restored as before to the religious liberty, the life and the faith of her ancestors.

PROF. ROHAN.

Great Educator May Be Brought to This City.

President Thomas Walsh presided over a splendid meeting of Division 1, A. O. H., Tuesday night, when another member was added to the roll. Chairman Doran reported that Michael O'Brien, who was on the sick list, was improving and that Thomas Dolan, the Financial Secretary, was almost entirely well. State President Butler was a welcome visitor and paid high compliments to the officers of the County Board for what had been accomplished this year. Martin Cusick also delivered a short address, in which he said Indiana was to be congratulated on the selection of Patrick B. Walsh, of Terre Haute, as State President. The suggestion that these two distinguished Irishmen be requested to visit Louisville some time during the fall or winter met with the approval of every one present, and it now looks as if the rate treat is in store for the Irishmen of the Falls City and their friends. Prof. Rohan is one of the best known educators in the country, and for the past two years has been head of the Irish History Commission. State President Walsh is a leading citizen of Terre Haute and is at present one of the commissioners of that city. Messrs. Butler and Cusick will have the thanks of all the divisions for their suggestions, which will result in much good to the order here.

MONUMENT

In New Albany to Memory of the Late Father Kelly.

A monument to the memory of the late Rev. John B. Kelly, for many years rector of Holy Trinity church in New Albany, will be erected in Holy Trinity cemetery, on the Green Valley road, with the fund of $500 provided for that purpose in the will of Father Kelly, together with a fund subscribed by members of the congregation. The monument has been designed by the present rector, the Rev. Charles Curran, and it is planned that the names of other priests who may be buried in the same lot with Father Kelly can be inscribed on it as a memorial to them. The monument will be of Barre granite and will be seventeen feet high surmounted by a cross, and will occupy an imposing prominence in the cemetery. It is likely the memorial will be erected this fall.

AMERICANS

Named For Appointment as Cardinals at Next Consistory.

According to the latest reports from Rome it is stated on what is said to be good authority that at the consistory to be held during the month of November Archbishop Farley, of New York, and Archbishop O'Connell, of Boston, will be made Cardinals. This will be the first consistory in three years, and it is also said that Monsignor Thomas F. Kennedy, of Philadelphia, will be raised to the Cardinalate as a token of the affection of the Pope for the American people. Monsignor Kennedy has been Rector of the American College in Rome for the last five years, and he will probably be attached to the Papal court and reside in Rome. Should these three prelates be named by the consistory America will have one-third of the whole number of red hats distributed, as only nine prelates are to be promoted.

MAKING A RECORD.

Seventeen dedications, forty confirmations and ninety visitations make up the record of work established by Bishop James O'Reilly, of the Fargo diocese, since he took charge of the work on June 1 and up to August 20. On one of his trips the Bishop traveled 150 miles by automobile.

JOHNSON

Looks Like One Best Bet in the Gubernatorial Stakes.

Shows More Strength Than Rest of the Candidates Combined.

Out-Spoken Opposition to Mayor Head Right Here in Louisville.

M'GEE AS POPULAR CAMPAIGNER

Interest in the race for the Democratic nomination for Governor in 1911 is rapidly increasing, but from present writing it looks like one man against the field, and that is Hon. Ben Johnson, of Nelson county, the field being composed of ex-Senator James B. McCreary, John K. Hendrick, William Addams and Mayor Head, all of whom have a small following. McCreary and Head being the strongest contenders in the convention Addams and Hendrick would probably have the vote of their own districts, while Mayor Head would get probably a majority from his home county, but would lose to Johnson right here in Louisville, while Senator McCreary would depend upon a scattering vote over the entire State.

Senator McCreary is handicapped in two ways, old age being one factor against him, while the fact that he has had every office within the gift of the Democratic voters of this State is another. In the case of Mayor Head there is not a Democratic voter outside of the administration that is not in sympathy with him for Governor, and all are unanimous in saying that the Democratic party elected him Mayor for four years and that he should confine himself to the duties of that office for that period in justice to the voters who elected him and as a duty to the whole people. Four-fifths of Mayor Head's administration can hear the sentiment expressed that the Mayor is acting selfishly by trying to force them into the stress of another campaign with its hard work and financial losses.

As a proof of Congressman Ben Johnson's record a case is now being cited in the campaign between Don Edwards and Caleb Powers for the Republican nomination. Every single Powers orator is citing Ben Johnson's record as a model Congressman, telling what he has done for his district and the people of the State, and using this as an argument against Edwards, claiming that he fell far behind Johnson even with his party in power in Washington. The Johnson sentiment is but an echo of the entire State, and from present writing it looks like his name will be the only one to go before the convention and that he will lead the Democratic party to victory in 1911. The local race here for Congressmen and Judge of the Court of Appeals between Swager, Sherley and Judge Miller on the Democratic ticket and Judge McGee and Robert W. Bingham on the Republican ticket would be dull and uninteresting if it wasn't for the amusing efforts of the Post and Herald in trying to convince the public what a rugged and strenuous campaigner Judge McGee was and how he was a man of the people, when every one knows the Judge never gets within a mile of the great common people—that is if he can help himself. All good politicians believe that Mr. Bingham has made the mistake of his life in lining up with the Republican party here, and that if he had stayed in the Democratic ranks future honors were in store for him. Readers of the Herald are liable to get a little twisted on the political situation, as after that break in saying that Judge Miller was refused a nomination last time they will probably learn that Sherley is running for Constable and Miller for Pound Keeper.

HONOR THOMAS WALSH.

Thomas Walsh, whose beautiful deed on the occasion of the unveiling of the monument to the memory of the prison ship martyrs in Brooklyn consistory in three years, and it is also said that Monsignor Thomas F. Kennedy, of Philadelphia, will be raised to the Cardinalate as a token of the affection of the Pope for the American people. Monsignor Kennedy has been Rector of the American College in Rome for the last five years, and he will probably be attached to the Papal court and reside in Rome. Should these three prelates be named by the consistory America will have one-third of the whole number of red hats distributed, as only nine prelates are to be promoted.

CLIFF HAVEN'S CLOSE.

This was the eleventh and final week of the nineteenth session of the Catholic Summer School of America at Cliff Haven. To the very end the session just closed has been a notable and significant one. To the Rev. D. J. Hickey, acting President of the school, too much credit can not be given for the splendid improvements and changes in all departments of the school's activities. The most notable event of the week and one of the most important of the session has been the convention of the Catholic Young Men's National Union. The delegates to the convention arrived on Sunday evening after a trip through the hectic lake from which the assembly takes its name. Sunday was a sort of banner reception day for delegates to the convention and distinguished clergymen on the grounds, many of whom were en route to the Eucharistic Congress at Montreal.

C. Y. M. N. U.

Hold National Convention at Catholic Summer School.

On Monday the convention of the Catholic Young Men's National Union was formally opened at the Catholic Summer School at Cliff Haven, N. Y., by the celebration of Pontifical mass by Bishop Colton, of Buffalo. The sermon of welcome was delivered by Rev. D. J. Hickey, acting President. A business session of the convention proper was held on Monday following the mass, presided over by William C. Sullivan, of Washington, D. C. The opening speech of the session was made by Rev. Edward F. Quirk, of Newark, N. J., Spiritual Director of the Union. At the afternoon session addresses were made by Bishop Colton, Rev. Thomas McMillan, C. S. P., Rev. D. J. Hickey and Charles Webber. Monday evening a banquet was given at the Champlain Club, which was a splendid occasion and thoroughly enjoyed. A euchar and bridge was given to the delegates at the Jersey Club. Tuesday was also given over to the business of the convention, followed by a reception and dance at the Champlain Club. On Wednesday the Summer School officials entertained the delegates of the convention with a launch party. The Catholic Young Men's National Union, which has been doing such excellent work during the thirty-six years of its existence, is truly to be congratulated on its splendid showing and plans for the future work and augur success of a tangible and certain definite character. The movement is truly one of great significance and deserves the support of the clergy and laity in every section of the country. The good that is being done is of incalculable value.

ELABORATE

Ceremonies at Knights of Columbus Library Opening.

A notable event in the history of the local council of the Knights of Columbus will take place on the evening of September 13, when the formal opening of the library installed in the home of the council will take place. For the past few months the council has been engaged in building up a suitable library, and elaborate ceremonies will attend the throwing open of its doors to the members. A choice literary program has been prepared, consisting of short addresses by talented members, and music and singing by the Choral Club of the council will be features of the occasion. The Entertainment Committee will attend to the social part of the programme, which will be of a pleasing nature.

RECENT DEATHS.

The funeral of Joseph Aufenkamp took place Monday morning from St. Mary Magdalen's church. Rev. Father Gausepohl conducting the solemn obsequies. Deceased was the son of Mrs. Mary and the late Ben Aufenkamp, and had the respect of all who knew him. A wide circle of friends sympathize with the bereaved mother.

By the death of Marianne Heuser, whose funeral took place Monday morning, St. Anthony's church loses one of its older members and the West End an industrious and respected resident. Surviving him are his wife and two sons, Henry and Charles, and three daughters, Misses Josephine, Lillian and Anna May Heuser.

Miss Margaret Scanlon, the seventeen-year-old daughter of Elizabeth and the late James Scanlon, died Tuesday night at the family residence, 727 South Thirteenth street, and the sad news was the cause of profound grief among her wide circle of friends and relatives. This is the second bereavement in the family during the past five months, her sister, Mrs. Martin Joyce, dying in May. Miss Scanlon was a girl of sweet disposition and was a favorite with all who knew her. Besides her mother she knew several brothers and sisters. The funeral took place Thursday morning from the Sacred Heart church, with Rev. Patrick Walsh as celebrant of the solemn mass of requiem.

Monday morning the Sacred Heart church was thronged with mourning friends and relatives who came to pay their last tribute of respect to August Westerfeld, one of the oldest and most highly esteemed members of the parish, whose death followed a sudden and unexpected stroke of paralysis. Rev. Patrick Walsh was the celebrant of the mass of requiem, and in a feeling manner paid tribute to the life and character of the deceased. Mr. Westerfeld had resided at Seventeenth and Chestnut streets for forty years, and is survived by his wife and eight children, August, John and Louis, and Mrs. E. M. Young, Mrs. Edward A. Brennan, Josephine, Sadie and Ananias Westerfeld.

REUNION.

Division 3, A. O. H., Welcomed Many Last Week.

Division 2, A. O. H., had a most enjoyable reunion of its members on Friday night of last week, when many who had been long absent put in an appearance and received a cordial and hearty greeting from President Ford and the other officers. The work of the evening was hastily dispatched in order to hear from County President Welsh, who told of his trip and work at the national convention. Others called on for addresses were Charles J. Obst, now residing in the county, and Al J. Barrett, who said he came in the role of the prodigal. After the reading of the official call for the State convention County President Welsh gave instructions for the local delegates, who will leave Louisville for Ashland over the Chesapeake & Ohio road on Sunday morning, September 18.

Will Draney and Ernest Smith presided over the festive board, while the good things were being disposed of calls were made for John Helion, of Division 4; Will Meehan, Joe Lynch, John Keaney and others, who responded happily and expressed appreciation of the hospitality of Division 2. The financial report showed the division in healthy condition, with not a member on the sick list.

SILVER JUBILEE.

Memorable Celebration at the Good Shepherd Convent.

Thursday of this week, the feast of the Nativity of the Blessed Virgin, was a day of rejoicing at the Convent of the Good Shepherd on Eighth street, for on that day there was a happy triple celebration. In the first place it was the sixty-seventh anniversary of the founding of this order in America, for it was here the first house was established, this being, as it were, the cradle of the Order of the Good Shepherd. It was also the twenty-fifth anniversary or silver jubilee of Mother Frances Xavier, the Sister who has charge of the Magdalens. With her celebrated three of the Sister Magdalens who also for twenty-five years have worn the black veil and the black habit. Then in addition there was a profession of six Magdalen novices, who received the black veil from the hands of the Right Rev. Denis O'Donoghue.

Bishop O'Donoghue was the celebrant of the jubilee mass, and at least a dozen of the local clergy were present and assisting.

MACKIN COUNCIL

Will Take Good Crowd to Owensboro For Debate.

Mackin Council held a busy session Monday night, with results that were gratifying to President Kenney and the members of the council. The visiting committee reported but three on the sick list and they were improving. When announcement was made that the Social Club had over $200 to turn into the council treasury there was a hearty round of applause, which was repeated when the committee reported that every arrangement for the lawn fête had been completed, and that all indications pointed to the realization of a sum sufficient for the payment for the beautiful memorial window that will be placed in the new St. Cecilia's church now nearing completion.

All the members were invited to accompany Mackin's representatives, Messrs. Louis Kieffer and William Burke, to Owensboro on Sunday, when the much talked of debate with Sarto Council will take place. The trip will be made over the Louisville & Henderson, which will provide special coaches for at least 200 people. It will be pleasant news to the young people of the city to learn that the Social Club will be continued and will repeat its series of successful winter dances and entertainments.

SOCIAL CLUB OFFICERS.

At its last meeting Mackin Social Club elected the following officers: President—Dr. J. A. Casper. Vice President—M. Fallahay. Secretary—William A. Cassin. Treasurer—A. C. Link. Last year was the most successful one in the history of Mackin Social Club, and the members and their friends have every reason to believe that under the leadership of its new President this year will even excel the one just passed. The opening dance, which is always a grand success, will be given the latter part of this month. They will continue the extra dances, which made such a hit last year, and will also add new ones that are sure to satisfy their many friends.

READY

For Opening of the Kentucky State Fair Next Monday.

Improvement in the Grounds, Buildings, Premiums and Displays.

Record Breaking Crowd Expected For Irish-American Night.

GROUNDS PRETTIER THAN EVER

If you have not taken your vacation it will pay you to remain in the city until after the Kentucky State Fair, which opens Monday, for the fun and enjoyment of the attractions scheduled for the event can not be duplicated or even approximated. All is in readiness for the great event, and the grounds are prettier than ever this year, and will surprise the visitors who have attended previous fairs. When the present location was secured there were some criticisms that they were not as attractive as such should be, but time, nature and the lavish expenditure of money have worked wonders. The work of landscape gardeners, under the supervision of Superintendent E. F. Durbeck, has added during the past eleven months as much of material improvement, when it comes to pleasing the eye, as has the work of the contractors and builders.

This year there have been numerous improvements in the buildings and also in the premiums and displays. Due to the temporary financial stringency in State affairs the appropriations made at the last Legislature toward improving the grounds were not as great as had been anticipated, and the extension of the grand stand, together with the building of permanent structures here and there, all much needed, had to go over for two more years. The turning of travel toward the grounds, however, in anticipation of the fair opening, has begun and when the swarms of visitors from over Kentucky begin arriving in Louisville next week they will find that enterprise and ingenuity have taken the place of money, and the coming exhibition is not going to be permitted to suffer because of lack of aid from the State's coffers.

Wednesday has been set aside for Irish-American night, when the banner crowd, as in former years, is expected to fill the spacious grounds. John M. Mulloy is Chairman for Irish-American night, and has appointed the following well known citizens to serve on the committee with him: Messrs. John J. Barry, William M. Higgins, Samuel J. Boldrick, Charles Byrne, J. J. Caffrey, B. J. Campbell, Capt. John P. Carney, Capt. Michael Cassin, Dr. John T. Chawke, E. J. McDermott, Matt O'Doherty, Joe Dougherty, John Hensley, Harry Brady, C. J. Ford, Charles J. O'Connor, Daniel J. Kane, Lee R. Yates, Dr. B. J. O'Connor, John B. Campbell, P. H. Callahan, M. J. Bannon, George J. Butler, Martin J. Cusick, Tom Riley, Thomas J. Keenan, Sr., Thomas Walsh, Thomas Dolan, James P. Berry, Thomas Tarry, P. J. Welsh, William Connelly, D. J. Coleman, Peter Cusick, John H. Whallen, James B. Whallen, Frank McGrath, Frank Dugan, Peter M. O'Reilly, Thomas J. Riley, John Ryan, Mark J. Ryan, Edward T. Tierney, E. J. O'Brien, Michael J. Duffy, Dr. Charles A. Edelen, John T. Garaghty and Pat Regan.

Special attention has been paid to the important feature of providing high-class entertainment for each day of the fair, so that those who are enabled to attend but once will fare as well, comparatively, as those who go oftener. Thus the closing day of the fair will likely be marked by an attendance little if any inferior to the big days in the middle of the week. The drawing card will be Parnell's fireworks display of "Pioneer Days in Kentucky." Secretary Newman has been untiring in his labors, which are certain to be crowned with success.

FAREWELL EUCHE.

The ladies of St. Columba congregation have arranged to give a eucche on Tuesday afternoon and night, September 20, in the parish house, at Thirty-third and Market streets. The parish house will be vacant at that time, previous to its being removed to the new church property farther west on Market street. The ladies will be prepared also to serve lunch and refreshments, and as they will display their usual generosity in the matter of beautiful prizes, it is their hope that a large number of friends will attend, and that a nice sum will be realized to assist the pastor, Father Kalaber, in transferring the present church and house to the more suitable location which he has selected for St. Columba's future new church.

OPENING AND RECEPTION.

The Franciscan Fathers, who conduct the Mary Anderson Monastery on Floyd Knobs, northwest of New Albany, will open their new building, just erected, on Sunday, September 25, and a general reception will be given their friends in the three Falls Cities on that day. The new addition to the monastery is forty-two by forty-eight feet, and has been in course of construction during the past two months.
